

Tahoe-Baikal Institute's Summer Environmental Exchange at Lake Tahoe and Lake Baikal

How do you want to spend next summer?

Have you considered...

"I guarantee you will leave this program wanting to make a difference!"

-Michelle Jordan, 2007 SEE participant

"This is a unique opportunity to learn many interesting things about the ecosystems of two of the most beautiful lakes in the world (Tahoe and Baikal.)"

-Denis Sandanov, 2006 SEE participant

"TBI is a key to the future. Without a doubt, my TBI experience will be a major factor in achieving my future goals."

-Natallia Leuchanka, 2009 SEE participant

... the TBI Summer Environmental Exchange?

Program Highlights:

- Unique place-based education program at Lakes Tahoe and Baikal
- Inter-cultural program brings together 18 participants from USA, Russia, and other countries
- Multi-disciplinary and hands-on curriculum focused on watershed management
- Approximately 10 weeks from mid-June to late-August 2009 (5 weeks each location)
- Program Fee covers travel between Tahoe and Baikal & all food, lodging and program expenses

For more information, please visit www.tahoebaikal.org

Lake Baikal

Financial Aid and Academic Credit Available

Rolling admissions open October 15, 2009

Final application deadline: February 5, 2010

Space is limited, so apply today!

For questions, please contact:

Jon Green, US Program Coordinator

Email: jgreen@tahoebaikal.org

Phone: 530-542-5599

Lake Tahoe

The Tahoe-Baikal Institute is an international partnership formed in 1990 to develop community, scientific, and resource management leaders across the intersections of watershed protection, sustainable development, and international cultural understanding.